

Deep integration with your church management software

Connect your Database & Phone System for Improved Communication!

It's magical when your church phone system is integrated with your church management software. Experience the power and convenience of calling people in your church management software from the integrated Intulse phone app on your mobile device. You'll leverage the latest contact data from your entire staff, available right at your fingertips. All calls are logged and stored directly within each church member's record in your church management software database.

To make a call from the Intulse App, simply type the contact's name in the search bar and their most up-to-date contact details will be pulled directly from your church management software. No more looking up a phone number in your database to make a call; all you need to do is type their name into your phone app.

Since the call is being made through the app instead of your cell phone, the church's caller ID will be displayed, increasing the likelihood that the call will be answered, as well as protecting your personal contact information.

Using the Intulse App will feel as familiar as using your cell phone. When the app is enabled, calls will appear just like those coming to your cell phone. Placing an outgoing call is as simple as typing a contact's name into the search field.

Scan our QR code to get the app installed on your device!

Every call made or received through the Intulse App will be logged directly into the contact's record in your ChMS database. (e.g. RockRMS, ChurchStaq, MinistryPlatform, etc.) This allows you to see which other staff members have contacted the family and allows for coordinated communication across various ministries.

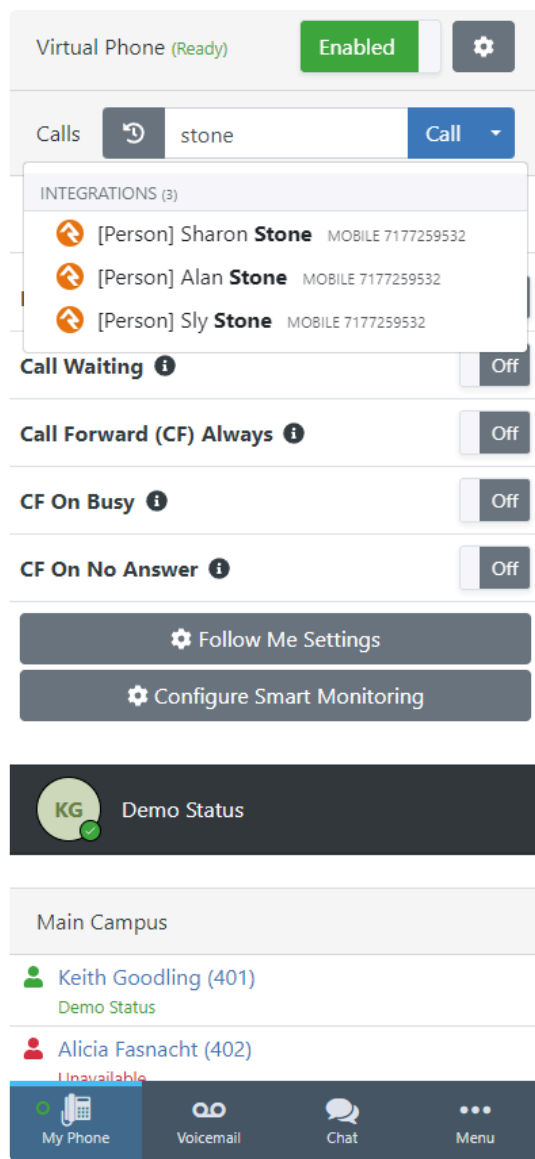

You have the ability to add your own commentary to the call log, even while still on the active call.

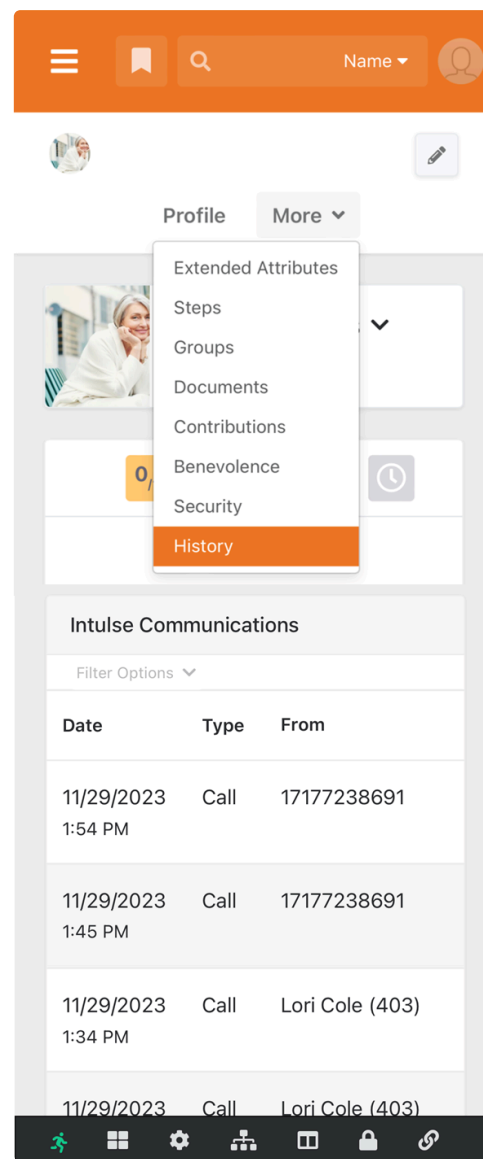

Communication Made Easy

Communication is simple when your Intulse phone system is integrated with your church management software. Find and call any contacts in your church management software directly from the Intulse app by simply typing their name. With our Click to Call desktop extension app, you can also start a phone call or text by simply clicking on any phone number directly within your church management software on your desktop computer.

With your Intulse app enabled on your mobile device, any call coming into your church extension from a contact found in your church management software will show the contact's name and the details of the call will be logged in their contact record within your database.

Begin typing the name of any contact from ChMS into your Intulse App to initiate a call with them.

All calls and texts are automatically logged within the contact's record in your church management software.

All incoming and outgoing texts are automatically logged, and optionally recorded within both the Intulse app and your church management software. You can view these call logs at any time by simply going to a contact's record in your church management software. This allows you to easily see call log details so you know who else on your staff has recently communicated with this family.
